

Tuesday 12 December 2017

4.30 p.m. - 6 p.m.

Seminar

Library Events Room (B. 135)

Palais des Nations, B Building, 1st Floor

Followed by a reception

The Challenge of Leaving No One Behind

Securing political commitment for inclusive development

Politics and power hold the real keys to achieving the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) that are designed for all countries and for all people.

How can we make concrete progress and increase the support and the political will that are urgently needed?

This seminar with experts will provide answers that focus on the politics of inclusive development and routes to social justice.

Speakers

David Hulme, CEO, Effective States and Inclusive Development Research Centre, University of Manchester, UK

Sam Hickey, Professor of Politics and Development, University of Manchester, UK

Sohela Nazneen, Research Fellow, Gender and Sexuality, the Institute of Development Studies, Sussex, UK

Discussants

Nitya Rao, Professor of Gender and Development, the School of International Development, University of East Anglia, UK

Katja Hujo, Senior Research Coordinator, United Nations Research Institute for Social Development, Geneva

Moderator

Paul Ladd, Director, United Nations Research Institute for Social Development, Geneva

Related Resources

The Politics of Inclusive Development: Interrogating the Evidence. Sam Hickey, Kunal Sen and Badru Bukenya, eds. (Oxford University Press, 2016)

Copies available for sale at the event

Policy Innovations for Transformative Change: Implementing the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development. Katja Hujo, coordinator and lead author. (UNRISD, 2016)

In collaboration with the Effective States and Inclusive Development Research Centre, University of Manchester